SM2187 3.0 out of 5 stars I would say that the pedal does an ok job but seems a little non user friendly when it comes to overdubbing. It would be nice to have an undo setting but Im guessing that this would require a more advanced chip. Also, this could be user error but it never seems to get the parts synced quite correctly. It is nice to be able to record my parts and come back to them. Ive never used this in live situation but I cant really see it being an easy pedal to use looping.Its like Im in some kind of loop!!! Sun went down, then came back up. Moon did too! This item is great!!! Its obviously universal!!!!I have found the built in drum guide is really REALLY loud. Even when turned to the minimum volume I often find it too loud and overpowering.<http://cncostruzioni.com/userfiles/daikin-installer-manual.xml>

If the AUTO START button is off, recording will begin the moment you press the left pedal. This function makes it easy to create “minus one” data for practicing. It is convenient to store the phrases in consecutive phrase tracks according to the order in which you intend to perform them. By pressing the REVERSE button, lighting its indicator, you can use reverse playback. The phrase stored in temporary memory is temporary, and will be erased when the following operations occur. Never turn off the RC20’s power while the WRITE indicator or the NOTE EXIT indicator is lit. These settings also determine how the guide tone will play, and how loop quantization will occur. This means that if the tempo and time signature are correctly set before recording, it will be easy to create a correct loop phrase. When using devices other than the RC20, it was necessary to become skilled at operating the pedal, through much practice. If you do not wish to hear the guide tone, turn the GUIDE knob to the OFF position. If you are using batteries, the power will not turn on unless an amp or speaker is connected to the OUTPUT jack.
